SCHOOL SAFETY AND CRISIS PLAN

Sweeny ISD Police Chief John Ideus spoke with the SHAC committee regarding safety concerns in the district. He reassured the committee that the district does have an Operations plan as well as Campus Crisis plans in place. He added that those plans are currently being reviewed in the wake of the Sandy Hook Elementary shooting. He added that he is setting up times with the High School and Jr High School to visit with faculty to review the plans and answer questions. Lock-down drills have already been conducted at both secondary schools this past week. In addition, he said that campus level improvements are being looked at and the possibility of adding security cameras at the jr high and elementary at the main entrances. Chief Ideus stressed the need for training during teacher inservice before school starts, as well as making sure substitute teachers are aware of Crisis procedures and those procedures be kept in the substitute folder. Ms. Englehart added that crisis information should also be reviewed at the substitute teacher training.
